

Brazil

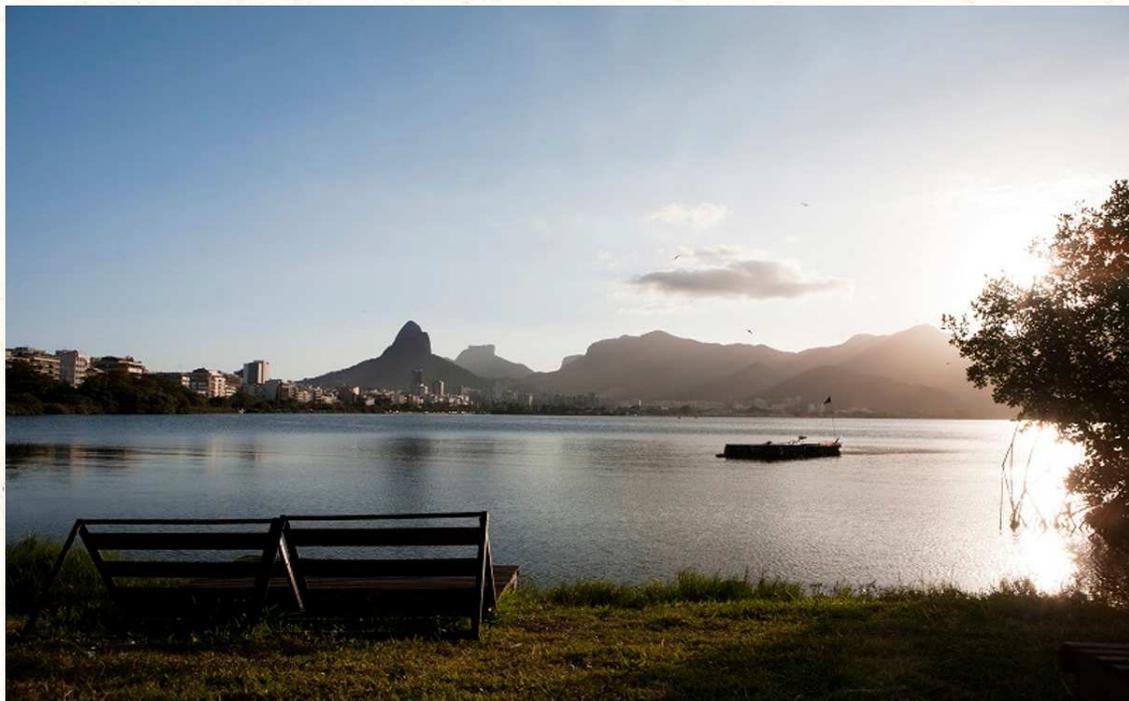

We invite you to forget what you know about Brazil. We have much more than carnival and football. From the south (with its canyons and the largest remnant of Atlantic forest in the country), to the North (with beautiful beaches, culture and tradition), our country offers options that appeal to different traveler profiles.

Ecotourism is the natural vocation of the country, which has numerous conservation areas that keep this amazing sceneries.

Culture comes from a mix of ethnicities that transformed Brazil in what is now the world's most cultural mixing country. From Japanese to German, everywhere you find descendants from all over the world living in harmony and creating a unique way of life. Always full of happiness!

The weather is an important attraction, since it is hot year in much of the country, and the southern region also please those who like a milder climate, with a more marked winter.

Dive sites, trails, the wetlands, the Amazon, indigenous communities, culture, history and intense contact with nature. This is Brazil!

Visited places

Rio de Janeiro

Known as the Marvelous City, Rio de Janeiro is an amazing, and magical place! Surrounded by stunning mountains, white sandy beaches and tropical rain forest, Rio has one of the most spectacular sceneries and ecosystems of the world.

A Portuguese navigator landed in the city in January 1502 and confusing bay with a river (Rio) named the region as "Rio de Janeiro." During the 17th century the city became important because of sugar cane export from its port, however what really made it boom was the gold rush in the 18th century. In 1763 the city became the capital of Brazil and continued as such until the creation of Brasilia in 1960.

Rio is now considered the vacation capital of Brazil and its inhabitants, known as 'Cariocas', who live life with enthusiasm. At the beach, try the "mate" accompanied by the famous biscuit flour O Globo. In late afternoon a good choice is the neighbourhood of Urca where people gather to see the sunset and the night arrive. There are many options for food and snacks along the beach, including fresh coconut water and blended acai with granola, a local favourite. Be sure to check out some of the night markets and the famous Sunday Brazilian artisan and handicraft market located in the neighbourhood of Ipanema, just blocks away from the beach.

Carnival and New Year's Eve are the main events in Rio, where you can meet travellers from around the world! Besides the festivities, mountaineering and climbing are very present during the days of Rio, and it is easy to see why, with the mountain rising off the beaches, resulting from the separation of the South American and African continents.

There is always something to discover and enjoy in Rio, from the sunset at Arpoador's beach, samba in Lapa, walking through the streets of Santa Teresa, to of course, Carnival, creating some of the greatest mix of cultures in Brazil. You can venture on bike through the city, climb Sugar Loaf mountain or trek to Christ the Redeemer, visit the multiple and diverse beaches in the city, and even take a favela tour to have a once in a lifetime raw, and heart expanding experience.

Foz do Iguaçú

Foz do Iguaçú is nothing less than a "New Wonders of Nature," according to the New Seven Wonders Foundation.

It is hard to imagine any person who has visited Foz do Iguaçú and was not delighted with the strength and beauty of the falls, a series of 275 waterfalls reaching up to 90 meters high. On the Brazilian side, a trail takes you to visit the bottom of the falls with a view to Devil's Throat, and on the Argentinian side, the most rudimentary track, "Wild," will take you to the top of the Devil's Throat with a spectacular view. We definitely recommend visiting both sides!

In addition to this wonder of nature, Foz do Iguaçú provides an abundance of interesting and adventurous activities, such as taking the Macuco Safari Boat Tour, which runs through the canyons and leads you to take a bath in the waterfalls of Cataratas do Iguaçú. There are also helicopter, hiking and rafting tours available for the adventurous.

Visiting the "Usina Hidrelétrica de Itaipu" (Hydroelectric Power Plant of Iguaçú) is also a must-see attraction of the giant turbines which turn water into energy. Located on the triple border between Brazil, Argentina and Paraguay, the city saw a large increase in population and economic growth from the construction of the Itaipu Hydroelectric plant. It represents an important role in the region, as a large part of Brazil relies on its energy production.

Amazônia

The Amazon, also known as the Amazon rainforest or the Amazon Jungle, is an abundantly humid forest that covers most of the Amazon Basin of South America. This region is one of the six major biomes of the planet, reaching about 7 million square km, and approximately 5 million of it is covered by tropical rainforest.

Nine nations have territories in the Amazon; Brazil, Peru, Colombia, Venezuela, Ecuador, Bolivia, Guyana, Suriname and France. However, the largest part of this territory belongs to Brazil. The Amazon represents more than a half of the tropical forests that exist in the world with the greatest biodiversity of any other rainforest.

The most common tours in this area are called "observation tours" in which visitors can walk through the forest, observing the diverse animal and plant species, visiting indigenous communities, and even trying their hand at fishing on Amazonian Rivers. To take the most advantage of the trip, it is recommended to visit the state during the months of July to November, when the weather is more stable.

The gastronomy of the place is ideal for those who like to try new cuisine. Many of the ingredients used for food preparation are stemmed from this very forest, such as the Cupuaçu fruit and Jambu fish tips, which are a great try for visitors!

Salvador

Salvador is the capital of Bahia state, in the upper northeast of Brazil. This city is full of culture, especially of the african-Brazilian civilization. The historical center of Salvador is known by its Portuguese colonial architecture with several memorial monuments of the seventeenth to the twentieth century, where Pelourinho, a famous Brazilian neighbourhood declared by UNESCO as a World Heritage Site, is located.

Salvador city is divided in "Cidade Alta" and "Cidade Baixa," and to travel between these two regions it is necessary to take the "Lacerda Elevator," which in itself is a sight to see. At Cidade Baixa it is recommended to explore the beaches of Salvador. One of more hectic beaches is the Porto da Barra beach, and those who like more quiet and relaxing beaches, such as Itapuã and Stella Maris, should stay further from the center of town.

If you love big festivals and you are in town in February, look out for the Carnival celebration. Bahia's Carnival is celebrated with electric trios (Trio elétrico), an abundance of music with great Brazilian singers and of course, lots of parties.

The strongest characteristic of Bahian cuisine is the use of pepper, so there are several options of well-seasoned dishes. The most famous is especially is the "Acarajé." Acarajé is a dish made from peeled beans formed into a ball and then deep-fried in dendê olive oil. It is served split in half and stuffed with vatapá and/or caruru, a salad made out of green and red tomatoes, fried shrimps and homemade hot pepper sauce. We recommend you go to the neighbourhood of Rio Vermelho to try acarajé prepared by Dinha and Regina. Other typical dishes are the bobó, moqueca and caruru (stewed okra). Be sure to try what the region has to offer!

Day 2: Tuesday 21/07/20, Rio de Janeiro

Full Day Tour (08 hours) in Rio de Janeiro to visit the following places:

Accompanying guide for 08 hours in Rio de Janeiro.

CORCOVADO

Everything begins on board of a centenarian eco-friendly electric train. It doesn't pollute and cuts through the well-preserved Atlantic Forest, which is part of Tijuca's National Park. At the foot of Cristo Redentor, one of the Seven New Wonders of the Modern World, the most beautiful view overlooking Rio de Janeiro is the best thing the city has to offer. Before going on, here is our warning: when (re)discovering all of the things that make Corcovado's Train the most visited, world famous tourist spot in Marvelous City, it is possible that suddenly you feel overtaken by an unexplainable will to leave your computer home and make the dream of seeing it all live come true, even though you've done it once or more. And if this actually happens, don't worry, you're not the only one.

SUGAR LOAF

The ride to the Sugar Loaf cable Car unfolds a 360° scenery of breathtaking views, including the Leme, Copacabana, Flamengo beaches; the Pedra da Gávea, Maciço da Tijuca and Corcovado mountains, the latter showcasing the statue of Christ the Redeemer; the Guanabara Bay; the downtown area; the Santos Dumont Airport; Governador island; the neighboring city of Niterói; the Rio-Niterói bridge; and the Serra do Mar mountain backdrop, with the famous Dedo de Deus ("God's Finger") peak. The cable car ride is included in the tour.

Day 3: Wednesday 22/07/20, Rio de Janeiro

Free day to enjoy the city. Check out our tips list:

Best Lunch Spot: The Aprazível Restaurant

What: The Aprazível Restaurant is located in the gorgeous Santa Teresa area. Enjoy typical Brazilian food on the terrace with stunning views over the city and bay area.

Best Dinner Spot: Churrascaria Fogo de Chão

What: The Churrascaria Fogo de Chão is a traditional Brazilian steakhouse, cooking the best barbecue the city has to offer. Seriously great kebabs.

Best Brunch Spot: Confeitaria Colombo

What: Enjoy a feast of traditional sweets, pastries and waffles for brunch at Confeitaria Colombo. The Confectionery Cafe is located at the Copacabana Fortress, with unique views of the Copacabana beach – it's a must for any Rio newbie.

Best Bar: Rio Scenarium

What: The Rio Scenarium offers a taste of Carioca's culture (local to Rio). With a mix of samba dancing, authentic food and lively locals, it makes for a very memorable evening. Be sure to check out their website, as they have a daily changing programme featuring live Brazilian music for every night of the week.

Best Street Food Vendor: Globo Biscuit or Açaí Bowl

What: Our travellers love to explore the colourful back alleys of Rio, bursting with vibrant vendors selling typical Brazilian cuisine. Try the renowned Globo Biscuit, a sweet snack that is sold on Rio's beaches, or for a healthier option, the Açaí bowl, a thick smoothie of red fruits, topped with oatmeal and peanut butter.

Five Must Dos in Rio:

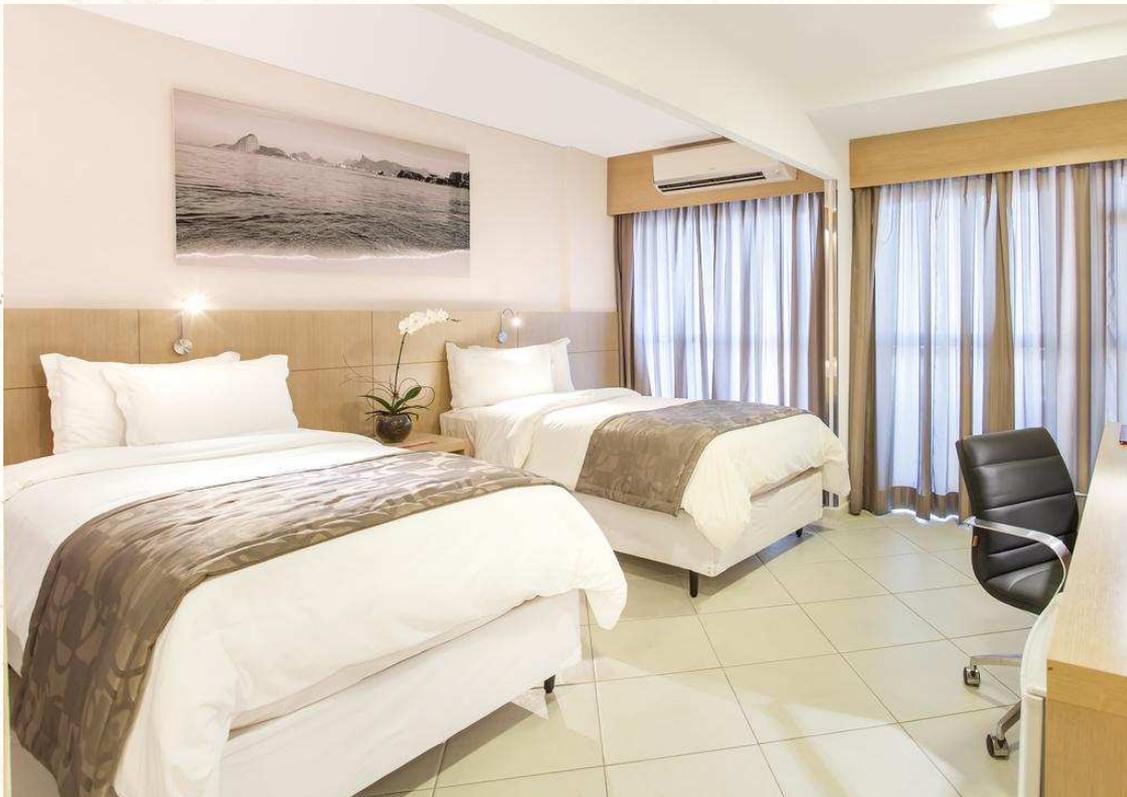

- Hike up the Morro da Urca Trail for beautiful views of the region, take a cable car on the way down!
- Visit the Museu do Amanhã (Museum of Tomorrow) and enjoy the Kobra's graffiti in MAR, next door.
- Take a Favela Tour.
- Rent a bike and ride along the edge of Zona Sul.
- For an early morning activity, try stand-up paddle boarding at Posto 6 in Copacabana.

Day 8: Monday 27/07/20, Foz do Iguaçu

Tour to Brazilian Falls.

Accompanying guide in Foz do Iguaçu during Brazilian Falls tour.

BRAZILIAN FALLS

The 275 falls of the Iguaçu River, creating Foz do Iguaçu, are considered one of the greatest natural wonders of the planet. Listed by Heritage, the National Park and its attractions are even more impressive in the months of December and January, when the volume of water is greater, but the entire year is good to visit the region anyway. To enjoy the landscapes that spread over an area of 186 hectares there are lookouts, scenic walkways and hiking paths.

By land, the tour is done by bus to the scenic walkway 1,200 meters long, guaranteeing a breathtaking experience. There are multiple viewpoints - but first, the coatis racoon and butterflies demand equal attention with the Salto Floriano, the point in which the waters reach great flow. At the second, witness the falls from interesting angles to really experience the wonder of nature. Besides the falls, the park also is home to several species of plants and birds. They are fig trees, trumpet trees, pine trees, bromeliads and orchids, as well as toucans, macaws and parrots which ensure a bright and vibrant addition to the experience. Be sure to set aside time before or after the tour to check out the bird park.

Day 9: Tuesday 28/07/20, Foz do Iguazú

Tour to Argentinean Falls.

Accompanying guide in Foz do Iguazú during Argentinean Falls tour.

ARGENTINEAN FALLS

The limits of the Brazilian park extends to Argentina. On the Argentine side of the park, we will embark upon the train that leads to two circuits - the Lower, of 1,700 meters and walkways running along the falls to the Moorhen level; and the Superior, with 650 meters and hanging bridges that reveal a complete picture of all the falls. Both routes end at the edge of the biggest and most exciting Falls: the Devil's Throat. At 90 meters high, it is one of the picture perfect postcards of the region. The Argentine side is more rustic than the Brazilian, with exuberant and heart exhilarating hiking trails.

HISTORIC CITY TOUR:

In this Historic tour, you will see some of the most famous postcards of Brazil. We will start with a visit to the Barra's Lighthouse, where you will have a few minutes to enjoy all the beauty and magnificence of the place and take several pictures. Continuing our tour, we will pass by the Corredor da Vitória and Campo Grande, which during the carnival serve as walkways for the famous Trios Elétricos. Arriving at the Historical Center, the tour is done walking around the narrow streets, slopes and many old houses, which will make you travel back in time. Squares, churches, museums and art galleries give a special charm to the Pelourinho. We will make a lovely stroll along the Cidade Baixa of Salvador. A place full of history, culture and stunning scenery, starting with the view to the Itapagipe peninsula. A brief stop at the famous Ice Cream from Ribeira, to cool off with a delicious ice cream made from typical fruits and flavors you will not find elsewhere. We continue our tour visiting the famous Church of Nosso Senhor do Bonfim, that every 2nd Thursday of January, becomes the scene of one of the biggest parties that celebrate religiosity in Bahia. Following towards the Mont Serrat, we visit the Fort Mont Serrat, which retains some original copies of war weaponry. Right on the side, we will visit the Ponta de Humaita, where the Sunset leave you spellbound. The tour ends with a free time for shopping in the Mercado Modelo, the biggest local handcraft center in Bahia.

Highlights include: Terreiro de Jesus, St. Francisco Church, Museum da Misericórdia, Jorge Amado's House and Olodum's house, among other must-see attractions. It is worth to experience the joy of the native people.
